SOURCE:

1. No aircraft or air force soldiers were observed at the FUERSTENWALDE (W 58/2 88) airfield on 9 July 1949. Soldiers wearing black-bordered, red epaulets guarded the airfield border and the hangars. Several field cables were being laid from the barracks (at the other side of the FUERSTENWALDE-BLAUMHEIM road) to the former airfield administration building.
2. The radar set, which had been observed in May 1949, was no longer at its previous location. Only an antenna rod was observed there.
3. The airfield has no concrete runway, circular taxiway or boundary lights.

[REDACTED] Completely. The condition and occupation of the FUERSTENWALDE airfield has apparently not changed since June 1949. The airfield is still assumed to be occupied by an antiaircraft unit but not by an air unit. The mentioned radar set was previously reported by the same source.
